RESEARCH PROJECTS

- Sexual Assault Survivors' Experiences Seeking Civil No Contact Orders 2023-2024
DePaul University and Michigan State University. We are partnering with the Illinois Coalition Against Sexual Assault to examine the experiences of non-intimate partner sexual assault survivors seeking civil no contact orders in Illinois. We will interview a diverse sample of up to 50 urban and rural adult survivors, and explore how helpful they found their interface with the civil legal system, particularly law enforcement and advocates. Role: Co-Investigator (Dr. Megan Greeson, PI). Office on Violence Against Women: $448,399.

- Using the Life History Calendar to Examine Young Transgender Women's Trajectories of Violence, Mental Health, and Protective Processes 2021-2024
 University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Michigan State University, and University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign. Using the life history calendar to capture young trans women's ($N = 120$) trajectories of transition-related milestones, cumulative victimization, and help-seeking, and how these trajectories influence current mental health. Qualitative interviews ($n = 30$) will explore patterns of attaining help, barriers to access, mental health needs, and protective processes. Role: Co-Investigator (Dr. Jane Hereth, PI). National Institute on Minority Health and Health Disparities (R21MD01649501): $436,097.
- Debt as a Control Tactic in Abusive Marriages: Its Characteristics, Legal Remedies, and Effects 2019-2024
 Michigan State University and University of Texas-Austin. Conducting a mixed methods study of coerced debt with a sample of women from Texas ($N = 180$). Using the life history calendar and qualitative interviews to understand the experience of coerced debt during an abusive marriage; the extent to which help is available, accessible, and acceptable through divorce and debtor-creditor law; and the economic effects of debt three months post-divorce. Role: Co-Principal Investigator (Dr. Adrienne Adams, PI, and Angela Littwin, JD, co-PI). National Science Foundation (SES1920557): $399,997.
- Using the Life History Calendar to Assess IPV, Labeling, Stigma, and Mental Health across Relationships among Young Women 2017-2020
 Michigan State University. Using the life history calendar to assess intimate partner violence (physical, coercive control, and sexual), labeling, and stigma across relationships, and related mental health outcomes, within a diverse sample of 150 young women from university, two-year college, and high-risk community settings. Data will be analyzed using multilevel modeling and growth curve modeling. Role: Principal Investigator (Dr. Deborah Bybee, co-I). School of Social Work: $8,560.
- Piloting the Life History Calendar to Examine Dating Violence Predictors, Types, and Dynamics over Time 2014-2018
 Michigan State University. Used the life history calendar approach to measure cumulative victimization and adversity over time as predictors of adolescent intimate partner violence victimization and perpetration within a sample of 150 young adult women from university, two-year college, and high-risk community settings. This approach yields both qualitative and quantitative data, which will be analyzed using grounded theory and multilevel modeling, respectively. Role: Principal Investigator (Dr. Deborah Bybee, co-I). MSU Faculty Initiatives Fund: $9,240.

Integrating Health IT to Develop a Patient-centered Approach to Medication Management 2013-2014

Michigan State University. A feasibility study to examine how vulnerable patients' use of a mobile application will empower them to play a more active role in managing their medications and health, enhance communication with care providers, and improve patient outcomes. The study used qualitative and quantitative methods. Role: Qualitative Methods Consultant (Dr. Erin Sarzynski, PI). MSU-Sparrow Center for Innovation and Research: $75,000.

A Preliminary Study of Coerced Debt in Abusive Relationships 2013-2014

Michigan State University and University of Texas-Austin. A pilot study to evaluate the feasibility of the life history calendar approach for examining intimate partner violence (including physical, psychological, and economic abuse) and the specific role of coerced debt, in the lives of 30 women. Results informed an NSF proposal. Role: Methods Consultant (Dr. Adrienne Adams and Angela Littwin, JD, co-PIs). School of Law, UT-Austin: $1,000.

Piloting an Innovative Method to Assess Adolescent Mothers' History of Co-occurring Violence Exposure 2007-2009

Michigan State University. A feasibility study of the life history calendar as a method for assessing co-occurring community, family, and partner violence, and the relationships between violence exposure and current mental health outcomes, within a sample of 60 adolescent mothers. Multilevel modeling piloted as an analytic strategy. Role: Principal Investigator. MSU IRGP: $30,608.

Adolescent Sexual Assault Victims' Experiences with SANE-SARTs and the Criminal Justice System 2008-2009

Michigan State University. Collaborated with SANE and SART programs to explore service provision to adolescent victims, if and how these programs contributed to increased police reporting and prosecution rates, and the experiences of adolescent sexual assault victims. Role: Co-Investigator (Dr. Rebecca Campbell, PI). National Institute of Justice: $319,921.

Adolescent Sexual Assault Victims' Help-seeking 2007-2008

Michigan State University. Collaborated with the SANE and SART programs in Macomb and Calhoun counties to examine services provided to adolescent victims by these interventions, and assessed how these programs contributed to increased police reporting and prosecution rates. Role: Co-Investigator (Dr. Rebecca Campbell, PI). MSU FACT: $50,000.

Violence Against Women Research and Outreach Initiative 2006-2009
Michigan State University. Built collaborative relationships with other violence against women researchers at MSU.
